Grand Prairie Juvenile Grange Captures Honors

Marion County Group Captures Ohio State Fair Exhibit Prize for Second Consecutive Year with Extensive Display of Activities.

Grand Prairie juvenile grange has been awarded first honors in the juvenile grange exhibits at the Ohio State fair for the second consecutive year, it was announced today by Mrs. R. T. Thew, matron. The grange also was presented the Moores & Ross loving cup. As winners of last year's national award the grange will be ineligible to compete in the national contest this year.

The exhibit interpreted the grange work and activities of the members. The center scene was a miniature grange and portrayed the members of Grand Prairie grange receiving the silk flag as an award proclaiming them the best juvenile grange in the United States. A cemetery in which the graves of soldiers were being decorated portrayed the grange's Memorial day observance and another scene carrying out the grange slogan "A Letter a Day to Our Tubercular Member," was portrayed by the delivery of a letter to a grange member at the state tuberculosis hospital at Mt. Vernon.

Two floats built on miniature trucks and portraying the grange's observance of the Washington bicentennial and Mother's day stood at either side of a float representing "The Spirit of Progress." The center float bore a statue towering above a pyramid representing the grange and bearing the inscription "Love, Devotion, Sincerity, Work, Play, Eats, Growth."

Placards at either side of the booth showed the community activities of the grange and outlined the programs for the year and displayed the trophies won by the organization since its reorganization in 1929.

The grange motto and a generous display of fruits and vegetables completed the display.

The exhibit was placed by the matron, Mrs. R. T. Thew, Richard Davidson, master, Richard Steward, Lillian Risch, Enid Hickman and Audrey Williams.

BISHOP ASSAILS DRY WORK OF MINISTERS

M. E. Leader Tells Conference Pastors Too Confident of Victory.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 31—The prohibition issue today confronted the Ohio conference of the Methodist Episcopal church as its ministers pondered their presiding bishop's charge they have been "complacent" in the fight to retain the dry law.

Without mincing words, Bishop H. Lester Smith, head of the Cincinnati area, told more than 700 pastors last night that "we have been neglecting the real work of Christ and His church."

Pointing to what he termed a "violent counter-attack" by the anti-prohibitionists, Bishop Smith declared "it is a good thing for you and for the church to be aroused from our feeling of complacency, in a battle won for all time." He said the ministers have become too confident of victory.

He urged they rededicate themselves to prohibition and Christ's program of social service.

After a day of opening formalities yesterday, the conference convention today settled down to business. One of its first tasks is to work out a system to provide more adequately for pensioned ministers.

ASHLAND GOLFER TRAILING IN P. G. A.

By The Associated Press

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 31 — Olin Dutra, tournament medalist from Long Beach, Calif., shot a brilliant 33 on his outward nine today to draw away to a commanding four-up lead over George Smith of Chicago, in their first round 36-hole match in the national professional golf championship.

Horton Smith of Chicago, another title favorite, had a one-hole margin over Reggie Myles of Ashland, Ohio. Horton missed a four-foot putt to lose the ninth but made the turn in 35, one under par.

Horton Smith missed several golden opportunities and missed an easy four foot putt on the ninth to lose the hole and see his margin over Miles shaved to one up at the turn.

COAST IS SCANNED FOR LOST FLIERS

By The Associated Press

CARNARVON, Wales, Aug. 31—Authorities here are keeping a close watch along the north Wales coast and at Cardigan bay for possible traces of the missing trans-Atlantic fliers, Clyde Lee and John Boehkon, as a consequence of a report than an airplane motor had been heard on the night they were due over England.

An automobile association scout inspector reported that on Friday night, while he was walking with his wife, on the shore of Cardigan bay he distinctly heard the drone of a powerful airplane engine. It appeared to come from some distance at sea. He heard it for several minutes and then it stopped suddenly.

DR. F. R. MANN SPEAKS AT ROTARY MEETING

Park Board Head Tells of Work Done at Recreational Centers.

Dr. F. R. Mann, president of the city park board, talked on the history of the local parks at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club at the Hotel Harding yesterday.

An increase in the use of the parks as a meeting place for family reunions, as the result of improvements added in recent years, was pointed out by Dr. Mann, who said that on one day recently more than 700 persons attended reunions at Lincoln park.

He reviewed the history of the parks and stressed the need of outside financial help if the parks are to meet the need as recreation centers. As the result of efforts on the part of residents of the South Side, a wading pool and playground equipment have been added to McKinley park.

Dr. Mann also said the placing of caretakers at Lincoln and McKinley parks, had greatly reduced the damage by vandals which had cost the city considerable loss in past years. The money available for park purposes, he said, would not permit the placing of a caretaker at Garfield park, although damage at this park had not been as great as in the other two parks.

EXPECT CLEAR SKIES FOR SUN SPECTACLE

Weather Odds Favor Science Forces Assembled in Total Eclipse Area.

cording the fluctuating heights of this radio "roof." The whole experiment is aimed to see what will happen during total eclipse, when the roof may go shooting aloft or drop low like a flopping blanket.

The majority of telescopes are measuring sunlightt. Ordinarily the intense flare of the sun is too overwhelming for sensitive instruments. A total eclipse furnishes rays in small parcels which can be analyzed to amazing fractions of accuracy.

Many of the instruments trained on the eclipse today contain so many filters for light and recently discovered sensitive methods of measuring it that they are really more like giant test tubes than mere telescopes.

Value of Eclipse Study

Astronomers call the moon's shadow sometimes the "celestial express," by which they time more exactly the movements of the sun, moon, planets and other celestial bodies. This leads them to more accurate computations of distances to other planets and to stars. Numerous observations of the split-second time when the moon's edge crosses the sun's face will be taken to correct previous clockings.

This eclipse begins north of Siberia. Actually it starts on the other side of the line where international time changes, so that the eclipse begins on Thursday and ends on Wednesday, starts in September and ends in August. It travels 2,000 miles an hour and ends out in mid-Atlantic where it meets the sunset.

Success of "Radio" Eclipse Regarded Sure

By The Associated Press

DOUGLAS HILL, Me., Aug. 31—The "radio" eclipse today promises to be a success no matter how thick the clouds. The radio signal, expected to reveal the cause of various reception troubles, is going successfully from the Case school-Ohio Wesleyan special station here.

The signal is a short wave for trying to discover what produces the Kennelly-Heaviside layer of air 90 to 300 miles aloft. This layer reflects radio waves back to earth.

The "photometric eclipse" also is expected to be a success. This is the measurement of the reduction in volume of light from the sun during an eclipse.

Dr. Harlan T. Stetson, director of Perkins observatory, of Ohio Wesleyan university, one of several expeditions which will record the "photometric eclipse," said that even with clouds the reduction of light might be recorded sufficiently to result in finding a reliable "radiation curve."

This curve is a mathematical ratio, useful to scientists who seek more accurate measurements of the sun's radiation.

Afternoon came on here with clouds growing thinner, and a fairly good view of the sky through some haze.

Smith and Blease Lead in S. Carolina

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 31—Senator E. D. Smith and former Senator Cole L. Blease, once before political enemies and once colleagues in the United States senate, apparently will fight over again a battle they waged in 1914 for the Democratic senatorial nomination from South Carolina.

Smith, known to thousands as "Cotton Ed" and Blease, stormy petrel of South Carolina politics since he was old enough to vote, led a field of four candidates in yesterday's primary. They will enter a second race two weeks hence to decide the nominee.

WOOL EXHIBITS ARE FAIR FEATURE TODAY

County Commissioners Guests of Management; White To Address Group.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 31—Ohio's wool-producing industry had its inning at the state fair today.

A feature of the third day's program was a demonstration and style exhibit of clothing, and other articles made from wool.

Sheep-shearing contests, and judging of various breeds of sheep also were held during the day.

Today has been designated "county commissioner's day," and members of county boards from over the state were guests of the management. For their special benefit, a meeting was held at 11 o'clock, attended by township trustees and clerks, county commissioners and county engineers. Governor George White, Highway Director O. W. Merrell, Earl Hanefeld, state director of agriculture, and other state officials were to attend and make short talks.

Livestock to be judged, in addition to sheep, included Percherons, Guernseys and Shorthorns.

WALKER HEARING FUTURE UNCERTAIN

Illness of Mayor May Cause Further Delay in Case.

By The Associated Press

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 31—Because of a new complication, the illness of Mayor James J. Walker, the future of the ouster case against the New York mayor had taken on added uncertainty today.

Already prolonged well toward the eve of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt's departure for the west on an extensive campaign tour, the probable date of the end of the Walker hearing remained as much a matter for speculation as the governor's decision itself.

At New York Mayor Walker was in bed with nervous exhaustion, and his secretary, George S. Collins, said his illness might cause him to seek a further postponement of the hearing. Governor Roosevelt last Monday adjourned the hearing until Friday afternoon because of the death of George F. Walker, the mayor's brother.

AMAZING ANIMAL FILM TO SHOW AT PALACE

The Frank Buck picture that has aroused wide interest wherever it has been shown, "Bring 'Em Back Alive," will be shown at the Palace three days, beginning Thursday.

Buck is an adventurer who hunts, not for the thrill of shooting, but to bring back alive the wild animals of faraway countries. The animals he brings back are for circuses and zoos. Two of the most valuable animals in captivity, the two Indian rhinoceri at the New York Zoo, were brought back by Buck. The biggest part of the elephant herd in the Al G. Barnes circus was supplied by him and from 1918 to 1928, when John Ringling bought the show, he supplied practically all the animals for the circus and most of the tigers, leopards, panthers, monkeys and other wild animals that are still with the show.

The Hagenbeck-Wallace, Sells-Floto and Ringling Brothers circuses have a large percentage of animals that were supplied by Buck direct. He brought back 170,000 feet of film from the Malayan jungles, the cream of which was made into "Bring 'Em Back Alive."
